Vernacular education

The language change was made gradually starting from the first year in primary school, then the second year in the following year and so on.

Striving for Inclusive Development

Year 1 to Year 3 are classified as Level One Tahap Satu while Year 4 to Year 6 are considered as Level Two Tahap Dua. Christianity is the predominant religion of the non-Malay bumiputra community 46. To equip the Department with the required work force, the Royal Malaysian Customs College was established in August 1956 formerly known as the Federal Customs Training Center, Federal Customs Training School and Royal Customs Training College.

Striving for Inclusive Development

Malaysian team made it AGAIN as the champion. If they have a good knowledge of Chinese history, and of Malaysian history, they ought to fully accept Bahasa Malaysia rather than glamourise Mandarin. The relocating of pig farms, or of the Indian temple in Shah Alam, could have saved everybody involved a lot of time and energy which could have been used for finding the badly needed resources to develop the state of Selangor.

World of English

The essence of having a new national education policy was to make it more representative of the nation. It is a free world.

In the broad spirit of Article 152, the Education Act 1996 in Section 2 provides that the Chinese or Tamil language shall be made available in national primary and national secondary schools if the parents of at least 15 pupils in the school so request. Sad to say, much more will be required.

100 Years of Formal Education in Brunei Darussalam

UEC-SML is however, accepted by most private universities and colleges in Malaysia. It may also intervene at the request of the state assembly concerned.

100 Years of Formal Education in Brunei Darussalam

If it's the issue of language, then the provisions are already there but the implementation is still lacking. Before Malaysia gained independence, the Chinese had 1300 primary schools, nearly 100 high schools, and even a tertiary institution, Nanyang University, built without the financial support of the government. Based on PMR results and choice, they will be streamed into either the Science stream or Arts stream starting in Form 4.
