Although a series of legends developed during the perhaps elaborations of early tied this Joseph to as well as the Holy Grail, he is not currently on the abbreviated liturgical calendar of the Church of England, although this Joseph is on the calendars of some churches of the , such as the , which commemorates him on 1 August. It is a sixteenth-century copy of an early fourteenth-century original.

Joseph, Joseph of Arimathea, and Josephus

It was said that Joseph, with his son Josephes, was transported to Britain to escape persecution, whither he took the sacred Grail, that throughout his life this Grail furnished him with food and drink, and that at his death he charged his disciples to guard it faithfully. The prime focus of my investigation into the historicity of Christ was of course Joseph, his father, who was known as the Old Man Sabbas of Judea and died aged 111 years. .
