The luncheon period should of course remain the same. Every little while the newspapers uncover for us one of these intérieurs: a large family, growing boys and girls, sleep in one room; while one corner of the room is occupied by an outsider, a woman who receives the nightly visits of men. The soul of the people is being set free from the torpor of vice, from the shadows of ignorance.

Let us consider the attitude of the teacher in the light of another example.

The Montessori Method.

But with young children the question becomes more difficult.
