Israel says will seize West Bank land; demolishes EU structures

The figures have been shared with the Israeli authorities prior to the release of this statement. The last round of peace talks broke down in April 2014 and Israeli-Palestinian violence has surged in recent months. It could potentially split the West Bank, cutting Palestinians off from East Jerusalem, which they seek for their capital.

Israeli plan to raze East Jerusalem homes may be first step towards mass demolitions across the West Bank

All but one of the buildings, some of which are still under construction and uninhabited, are located on the Jerusalem side of the wall. A wave of Palestinian attacks prompted Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu to announce the resumption of demolitions in the occupied West Bank as a policy in 2014. Yes, once again a one-sided propaganda piece.

Acting the Landlord: Israel's Policy in Area C, the West Bank

© Haaretz Daily Newspaper Ltd. In less than 24 hours, 42-year-old Ismail Obeidiya, his wife Nida, and their six kids, could be made homeless. Unlawful demolitions exacerbate these vulnerabilities and must stop immediately.

Israel wants to increase its practice of demolishing the homes of Palestinian involved in fatal attacks

Since 2011, seeing that the Civil Administration did not draft plans as it is obliged to do, dozens of Palestinian communities — with the help of Palestinian and international organizations and in coordination with the PA — drafted their own plans. Five members of the family were stabbed to death in their home in the settlement of Itamar, including the parents and three children aged 11 years, 4 years and 3 months. Ever since her murder, settlers have been waging a campaign to expand the settlement.

Statistics on demolition of houses built without permits in the West Bank (Not including East Jerusalem)

Israel is hoping that in any final agreement with the Palestinians it will be able to keep large settlement blocs including in the Jordan Valley, both for security and agricultural purposes. For figures on demolition of houses in East Jerusalem click.

Gantz says Netanyahu tried to stop Israeli approval of Palestinian construction in the West Bank

On November 3rd, 2020, just hours before the US elections, Israeli forces completely razed the village to the ground, leaving its residents to spend a cold and rainy winter night without shelter. This artificial division, which was meant to remain in effect for five years only, does not reflect geographic reality or Palestinian space. Giving Palestinians control over their own planning would curb the need for illegal building, thereby halting house demolitions, say the petitioners, who have made their case before the Supreme Court and are now waiting for a final ruling.

In the Tell a-Samadi community northwest of al-Jiflik, the Civil Administration confiscated a shack housing a couple as well as a structure used as an outhouse and a water tank donated to the couple by a humanitarian aid organization after forces , outhouse and plastic water tank on 21 October 2020. Demolitions manifest just one aspect of this criminal policy that will not end until rebuke and demands for compensation are replaced by truly holding Israel accountable for its actions.
