Mattioli's letter of dedication to Archduke Ferdinand II of Austria is noteworthy for the precise explanation of the author's motive's: Nam cum non pauci, qui discendae medicae materiae magno ac ferventi tenentur desiderio, me saepe rogarent, ut in eorum gratiam atque usum compendium conscriberem, in quo plantarum icones cum nominibus et compendiosa earum historia extarent, ut eo duce quaecumque loca, ubi stirpes proveniant, tuto ad eas noscendas indagandasque adire possent, ne de sua ipsorum in me confidentia frustrarentur, compendium hoc in eorum usum conscribere decrevi, quod quamvis succincto ac Laconico sermone conscriptum videatur, erit tamen, ni fallor, et gratum et perutile, non solum iis, qui indagandis noscendisque simplicibus medicamentis navant operam, sed iis quoque, qui hanc facultatem iam adepti publice morbis omnibus passim medentur.
