Foot of Lei Shen

During this Phase, the conduits are no longer active, and all you need to deal with are several abilities used by Lei Shen. Therefore, before going over any other specifics, we should mention that you will want to ensure that the conduit that you deem to be most damaging should end up having the highest amount of Energy at the end of the phase, so that you do not need to deal with it again during Phase Two and during the Second Transition Phase. The second issue during transition phases is making sure that all the players in each quarter of the room can survive the casts that target them.
