Ginguro Exploring Ancient Rivers for Gold in Ontario, Canada

Reclamation of the site is underway. Prospectors must sketch out a map of their claim to be included with the claim registration and may be required to include GPS coordinates for all corner posts. In: Macdonald AJ ed Proc Gold '86 Symposium

Macassa Mine Geology

The sand and gravel of rivers that have crossed gold fields may pan gold, and, in this way, give an indication for prospecting upstream. Concentrate from the Knelsons was upgraded with a shaking table. Ontario, Manitoba, Quebec, Yukon, Nunavut and the Northwest Territories use traditional staking methods whereas British Columbia, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan use digital staking.

Mineralogy and microstructures of carbonaceous gold ores

Gold occurs as inclusions in pyrite, and less commonly as free gold in fractures and along graphite-quartz grain boundaries in quartz veins.

Gold, Mining and Prospecting: Gold Occurrences in Ontario

The same forces also created the North American and the Niagara River. Disclaimer: This is an editorial review of a public mining company press release and is not an endorsement. The most notable exception to this is the USA where individuals primarily own mineral rights on private land.
