Essay on Fairness of Our Taxation System

Many tax jurisdictions allow taxpayers to choose between the treaty and the domestic law provisions, whichever is the more advantageous to them. With reference to the said Agreement, it is agreed that nothing therein stated shall be construed as preventing Canada from imposing a tax on amounts included in the income of a resident of Canada according to section 91 Foreign Accrual Property Income of the Canadian Income Tax Act. In addition, several countries have separate limited bilateral treaties for shipping and aircraft activities.
