The information will be protected against unauthorized use and release, including through the exercise of applicable exemptions under the Freedom of Information Act e. The authors evaluated a sample of SDSs from 30 manufacturers of toluene diisocyanate, a chemical known to cause asthma. One option suggested by commenters was requiring a red label but allowing manufacturers and importers to use preprinted labels with multiple red frames.

Comments received from stakeholders support the revision of the HCS to include the use of standardized signal words Document ID 0321, 0338, 0339, and 0349. Training that includes an explanation of labels included in the final rule will ensure that the pictograms are understood by employees. OSHA included this definition to preserve existing safeguards under requirements of the HCS for chemical manufacturers and importers to disseminate information on hazardous chemicals to downstream employers, and for all employers to provide such information to potentially exposed employees.
