General web resources

Cultural Respect is achieved when the health system is a safe environment for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and where cultural differences are respected. MHCC recognises that improved outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples will only be achieved when effective and respectful partnerships are established with them, their communities and their organisations.

State Library resources

Items covered include, among others, the right to self-government, indigenous law and the right to cultural heritage. MHCC encourage members to use these protocols and practices in their undertakings. Subjects range from personal papers and manuscripts to sheet music to transcripts of speeches.

ATSILIRN

Presentation at ATALM International Conference of Indigenous Archives, Libraries, and Museums, Washington D.

Guides and resources

If you wish to use the name, image or voice of a deceased person, you must seek permission in writing.

Stolen Generations

Online and non-digitized photographs Tips on how to find photos: We suggest using keywords in both languages, as they can provide different results. Army including artwork and photography, and information about specific units.

Aboriginal Studies

Supporting your staff in these areas results in better performance, higher retention rates and increases the value they bring to the organisation.
