| Cross-Cutting Issues | | |
| Further state corporate governance standards to bolster independence of board and strengthen functions from senior management across banking and insurance sectors (GSA). | NI | The FSA published the revised Corporate Governance Code in June 2016, which requires that a company should appoint a sufficient number of independent directors (other than just disclose a majority) to align with the previous version of the company's articles of association and ensure that the board of directors as independent directors based on various factors. The revised Corporate Governance Code also holds companies more accountable for cross-shareholding by requiring them to annually assess whether or not to hold such cross-shareholding and disclose the results of the assessment. The revised Code requires that the board appropriately oversee the systematic development of succession and departure or director's CDD through objective, timely and transparent procedures. In addition, new disclosure rules on cross-shareholdings have effect in March 2018, requiring disclosure of the method of verifying the rationality of cross-shareholding, and expanding the coverage of mandatory individual disclosures from 30 to 60 shares. |
| Further develop internal processes to support full-risk based supervision for banks, insurers, and securities firms (FSA, SEC). | 1 | The FSA finalized the "Principles of Prudential Policy" in March 2016, setting out its new forward-looking approach to macroprudential and microprudential supervision. It published comments on draft "Supervisory Guidelines" paper clarifying internal supervisory procedures under the new approach in October 2016. The FSA introduced this new supervisory approach in June 2018, in line with its organizational reform. |
| Consider enhancing independence of FSA and BoJ key supervisory issues (FSA, BoJ, FSA, BoJ). | NI | Under consideration by the authorities. |
| Systemic Risks | | |
| Conducting supervisory stress testing model for both solvency and liquidity risk analysis for banks, and for identifying risk analysis for insurers, as well as stress test large exposures periodically (GSA). | NI | The FSA and BoJ will jointly conduct a bottom-up solvency stress test of 5 major banks (G G-SBs and 2 D-SBs) based on a common scenario in 2019-2020, to complement its macroprudential and microprudential supervision. |
| Continue conducting liquidity stress testing regularly for significant foreign currency and report banks to hold sufficient counterparty credit, particularly high-quality liquid assets (FSA). | 1 | The FSA stated in "Providing Better Financial Services in the Era of Transition" published in September 2016, that it will encourage the three major banks to move stable foreign currency liquidity and enhance their foreign currency liquidity management. |
