Moorcock has mentioned 'The Gods of Mars' by Edgar Rice Burroughs, 'The Apple Cart' by George Bernard Shaw and 'The Constable of St. She' needs a masterwork volume! Malcolm published a substantial number of short stories in John Carnell publications and two novels with Laser Books. David wanders off across the landscape with his violin, and encounters a rather more alien music.

What a surprise he must of been. Nothing wrong with it, just it's a kind of story I've read or seen multiple times, and this added nothing, save the language in which it's written.

Best SF Stories from New Worlds, Vol. 4 by Michael Moorcock

I reviewed 'The Best SF Stories From New Worlds 3 1968' —i. Richmond and Walter, while taking their friend Arthur to a TB sanatorium, decide to stop along the way at a series of neolithic flint mines. I have not read a lot of Disch.

Best SF stories from 'New Worlds' (1974 edition)

His novels have a much clearer definition. Like another reviewer said, I felt like I'd read stories like this before, but I can't remember when or where, so I didn't really mind. Contact: From the viewpoints of multiple scouts sent inside 'The Hole' we learn about the discovery of the planet Panyra with its Eden-like landscape....
