According to the Protestant False Gospel of Justification by Faith, Salvation is Like Cheating at School, Part 1

Moreover, the salvation secured by Christ in the gospel is more comprehensive than justification alone: it brings repentance, wholeness, love for brothers and sisters in the Christian community. James is contending with church members who, although they profess faith, in fact have a 'dead' faith, a faith that produces no good works at all, but is content to live impenitently in sin. Where are you going to find the material for the robe that's going to cover you on judgment day? The proclamation of peace in 2:17 is a reference to the proclamation of the gospel.

The Article by Which the Church Stands in the Gospel

James challenges this kind of church member: 'show me thy faith without thy works,' and adds, 'I will show thee my faith by my works' v. The present relationship with God is that the justified one is a child of God, graciously adopted into His family. The righteousness of God is not appreciated much anymore in the churches today.
