Northward trek

The trees here are large and old. Bantjes made notes suggested by Uys, which later formed the basis of his more comprehensive report on the positive aspects of Natal. The 992 mb December 26, 1974 event was close in time to the 988 mb March 1, 1974 storm, suggesting a persistent pattern and note the January 3, 1975 event in Class 3 below.

Great Trek

The maximum burst of 76 mph at Olympia during the 1958 storm was accompanied by average winds of 60 mph, the mark of a truly powerful windstorm. The first tornado grazed Wildwood on its East-Northeast path toward The Villages. I don't think I can do that.

“Map: The Trek Northward”

This is the ideal track for generating a high average peak gust for the eleven stations. In this case, the big 1976-77 PDO shift may have been the culprit.

The Northward Trek

We collect data from your device to personalize your weather and the ads you see. This change of temperature is itself a source of energy for storm systems. Note that the top end is generally dominated by the Class 5 and Class 6 storms.
