She found her nephew to be singular, witty, very serious, but a fine-looking boy and by no means a liability to the salon of a fashionable lady; furthermore, he was quite ignorant, scarcely knowing how to write his name. He is sexy, lovable, and unbelievably stupid and impulsive. The inept generals assigned to the army in Italy lost a series of battles on those same plains of Verona which two years earlier had witnessed the prodigies of Arcole and Lonato.

The Charterhouse of Parma by Stendhal

Stendhal wrote this novel in 52 days. Once Fabrizio had made his first Communion, she persuaded the Marchese, still in voluntary exile, to allow him to leave the College from time to time. Part of the problem was that I didn't know if the constant bumbling around was meant to be comedic or not which might have lent a little bit of charm to Fabrizio's manifold incompetencies.

The Charterhouse of Parma by Stendhal

. Stendahl was a nineteenth century French satirist who bascially invented the realistic psychological novel, and The Red And The Black is a wicked black comedy about a cunning young priest who plots to become Pope, and his subsequent adventures in high society. It is too long by half - the scenes of intrigue in Parma are remarkably redundant - and has some messy threads that never really resolve.

The Charterhouse of Parma by Stendhal, Paperback

When he finished the drunken crowd erupted with peals of laughter and insults, for the sonnet was not flattering and very novice. The officers had been billeted on the rich as often as possible; they were in great need of recuperation.
