Aaron T. Beck Papers

The cooperative experience has developed the market as an ideological construct, with ordinary people making sense of their experience characterized by their own modality and popular beliefs which themselves are material forces. While in the United States the term wool is usually restricted to describing the fibrous protein derived from the specialized skin cells called follicles in sheep, in the UK the term may be used of any long curling fiber such as wood wool, wire wool, etc. Remote Sensing and Environmental Monitoring for Sustainable Development of the Americas, March 21-22, San Juan, Puerto Rico.
