Visit the page on the Gateway for tips and advice. Although preference is given to manuscripts presenting the findings of original research, review and methodological pieces will also be considered.

Journal of Aging and Health

The Editor or members of the Editorial Board may occasionally submit their own manuscripts for possible publication in the journal.

Journal of Aging and Health

Our mission is to provide valuable research outputs on the digital open-access online platform and also to spread scientific knowledge throughout the world without keeping the much financial burden on authors. Submitted articles may be checked with duplication-checking software.
