Changes at Fairacre (Fairacre, #18) by Miss Read

I would almost say that Miss Read is settling into life. Miss Read worries about the failing health of Dolly Clare.

It's impossible to overestimate the importance of Miss Dolly Clare to the village of Fairacre.

Fairacre. Fakenham, UK

The new teacher, Miss Briggs, fresh from college and full of idealistic theories, proves a thorn in Miss Read's side. In August 1944, Marie-Laure LeBlanc is a blind 16-year-old living in the walled port city of Saint-Malo in Brittany and hoping to escape the effects of Allied bombing. Don't start with this, of course, as it's nearly the end of the series.

Enter your own, but be kind! I pretend I'm preparing, doing my due diligence for imaginary future travels to England. Instantly, all her plans for the holidays are in tatters.

The change of scene provides a welcome break for both women, giving Miss Read the opportunity to recuperate, and for them both to discuss the merits of single and married life.
