The average time to complete this route is 6-8 hours. Starting at the Summit: This is a challenging, yet rewarding 11. Kirt was not able to find a part to replace my rear hanger, however we had to decide on plan B because I wanted to finish and because quitting was not an option and because I flew from Oahu and invested so much time, money and training for this race I needed to finish.

Welcome to the Haleakala National Park

Unfortunately, or fortunately, as the case may be! Biodiversity has been compromised and is negatively affecting the groundwater reserve. There are limited facilities here, especially for picky eaters or if you are on a long day out! To ensure a smooth journey, make sure to fill up your gas tank and map your route the day before. Overview Up-to-date weather observations at the summit: Detailed map of the entire park from the park website: Update: The Halemau'u trail has reopened and is available for hikers.
