If the education of children with disabilities was the purview of social elites in the 19th Century Russian Empire, approaches to special education began to change in the early 1900s, when specialized medico-pedagogical approaches to educating exceptional children emerged from the work of intellectuals such as V. Polish-Russian relations These relations have been officially correct, although at times far from cordial. For example, if the current year is 2008 and a journal has a 5 year moving wall, articles from the year 2002 are available.
