History of Conflict in India and Pakistan

Pakistan supported the movement, calling for the issue to be by the United Nations. In August, India gives Pakistan a new dossier of evidence regarding the Mumbai attacks, asking it to prosecute Hafiz Mohammad Saeed, the head of Jamaat-ud-Dawa, an Islamic charity with ties to Lashkar-e-Taiba.

A Brief History of the Kashmir Conflict

Beginning in 1979, Pakistan played a frontline role for the United States in Afghanistan, in the last Cold War tussle between the United States and Soviet Union.

Here is a history of India

The view of the frontier from the border town of Kargil in Indian-administered Kashmir. As their stories are collected and shared, perhaps we will be better able to understand the violent turmoil through which India and Pakistan were created, and to imagine more hopeful collective futures.

India, Pakistan, and the Kashmir dispute: unpacking the dynamics of a South Asian frozen conflict

Islamabad has the Chinese establishment closer to the Taliban, as China hopes to checkmate links between Uighur separatists in Xinjiang Province and militants in the Afghanistan-Pakistan region. When the British colony of India gained its independence in 1947, it was partitioned into two separate entities: the secular nation of India and the predominantly Muslim nation of Pakistan. The two sign the Lahore Declaration, the first major agreement between the two countries since the 1972 Simla Accord.

The China

While news anchors in the subcontinent have been warmongering — and playing the chords of jingoism — Modi promised retaliation and villagers along both sides of the Line of Control LoC, the unofficial border between the separately administered parts of Kashmir moved to safer areas.

A Brief History of the Kashmir Conflict

The countries were expected to fight each other in 1955 after warlike posturing on both sides, but full-scale war did not break out.

The China

On three occasions, in 1947, in 1965 and 1971, it has led to war. The move was the first military action beyond the LoC since it was created as a de-facto ceasefire line after the third Indo—Pakistan war in 1972, and contributed to the sudden escalation between the two nuclear powers.
