Use of Technology in Teaching and Learning

Instructional designers use these visual documents to identify the type of content involved, and to present the content for each page, along with text, graphics, characters and notes. A 1-kilogram stick that is 2 meters long is placed on a frictionless surface and is free to rotate about a vertical pivot through one end. How long it takes is a function of where you are starting new design or redesign and your other obligations work, family, etc.
