Farewell Harbour Lodge wins 2020 Travelers' Choice Award - putting us in the top 10% of hotels worldwide! I used to retort that gardens are as much about looking as they are about growing. He's also good at thinking about war, though, and the section about a World War I soldier mentally tracing the lines of British history while swimming off the coast of Hastings will probably stick with me the longest.

MASTERPIECE

The dust jacket for hard covers may not be included.

Farewell Victoria, by T. H. White

White books I've read so far, but the writing is as beautiful as always. He does, however, have a tendency to indulge in some over-blown, fanciful writing — a 'toilsome angler' sticks in my mind, as does a dragonfly flying 'with the action of those aeroplanes which were still within the womb of time'. It charts the changes in an ordinary man's life and the life of society over 75 years, so it's not uninteresting from that point of view, but I would rather, I think, read history.

And the dwarf pine I rescued from an old conifer nursery. The Yellow Book and The Savoy, graphic realism and a redefinition of morals, futuristic prophecy and exotic fantasy would expand taste, enlarge the market for books, and write a finis to leftovers from the past.
