

Environmental safety and the elderly

Age Concern - Chapter 20: Patient Environment and Safety My Nursing Test Banks

Description: -

-Environmental safety and the elderly

-
Manifesto series, specialist report -- no.22 Environmental safety and the elderly

Notes: Includes bibliography.

This edition was published in 1974

Filesize: 24.75 MB

Tags: #Chapter #20: #Patient #Environment #and #Safety #My #Nursing #Test #Banks

10 Environmental Hazards That Cause Older Adults To Fall & How To Avoid Them

Housing standards, environmental barriers in the home, and subjective general apprehension of housing situation among the rural elderly.

Safety in and around the home

Low back injuries among home health aides compared with hospital nursing aides. The EPA map of radon zones provides more detailed information on radon levels in specific geographic locations.

CDC

Research is still needed to identify the best methods of service delivery; adequacy of training; types of interventions that work for whom, where, and when; environmental impacts of various interventions; value added by UD; and effectiveness and cost benefits of interventions for care recipients, care providers, and society. Environment and Behavior, 28 4 , 512-535.

How to Create a Safe Living Environment for Seniors

Development of a comprehensive assessment for delivery of home modifications.

Related Books

- Nicholsons visitors London.
- Krishna in performing arts
- Book of Mormon: lands and times
- Israeli economy - dreams and realities
- Music analysis in the nineteenth century