Comment by PeachesSir, other comment that is here, Im going to go ahead and hit you with what a google search hits you with and I guess we all will know that the title countess doesn't have anything to do with being a vampire. This has led to speculation that Báthory's killings during her later life were part of her efforts to cure the illness she had been suffering from since childhood; however, there is no hard evidence supporting this speculation. Throughout the , especially during the many other countships were created see:.
