Both these states, in order to strengthen their respective positions in international politics started organizing their camps. UN regional commissions are encouraged to continue supporting member states in this regard. From there it spread to Liberia, Sierra Leone, Nigeria and Senegal.

However, this is just another way of describing the general process of capital flight to locations that have cheaper manufacturing costs and cheaper labour. Our findings will help guide researchers and policy makers with new insights in understanding the situated environmental and social impacts associated with alternative sugar economy models, production technologies and qualities of management. The Goals and targets will stimulate action over the next fifteen years in areas of critical importance for humanity and the planet: People We are determined to end poverty and hunger, in all their forms and dimensions, and to ensure that all human beings can fulfil their potential in dignity and equality and in a healthy environment.

Development, Poverty, and Inequality

Within the challenging contexts of transition and financial crisis, programs in Albania and Indonesia illustrate approaches to poverty alleviation emphasizing the role of local actors and focusing on the improvement of squatter and informal settlements. This condition created a significant population density gradient: coastal sites had densities of well over 1,500 persons per square kilometer, while interior sites had densities of only one to five persons per square kilometer. Because they concentrate wealth and opportunity, they are magnets attracting migratory flows from economically depressed areas, and across national borders from the surrounding countries.

World Bank Group

The economic environment was simply too risky to sustain private interests alone, and state investment in infrastructure was critical. Municipal officials viewed community participation in planning and implementation of projects and fostering civic responsibility and self-reliance among disadvantaged families as the cornerstone of sustainable improvement in the town.
