Parallel Database

These include online decision support, batch reporting, data warehousing, OLTP, distributed operations, and high availability systems. Clusters involving categorical attributes tend to have the same value on the corresponding column.

Parallel and Distributed Information Retrieval System

In: Proceedings of the 17th international conference on parallel and distributed systems: 7—9 December 2011; Tainan. Big data has become popular for processing, storing and managing massive volumes of data. It is noteworthy that the number of clusters discovered by the PMR-Transitive is very close to the number of classes four diseases in the soybean data set.

A parallel fuzzy clustering algorithm for large graphs using Pregel

A parallel server can be one of several servers in a distributed database environment, and the client-server configuration can combine various Oracle configurations into a hybrid system to meet specific application requirements. Experiments were conducted on a cluster of one master node acting as a NameNode and on ten slave nodes acting as DataNodes as described in Table.

Partition based clustering of large datasets using MapReduce framework: An analysis of recent themes and directions

The EM clustering algorithm works by successively improving the solution found so far. In: Proceedings of the 12th International Workshop on Rapid System Prototyping, pp.
