Surrey records online

They were concentrated in the two areas mentioned above, Westminster and Spitalfields, and the large number of churches so close together creates a great problem for genealogists since members moved from one to the other quite indiscriminately. Neither method of relief was at this time in history seen as harsh.

GENUKI: City of London, London

Wyern his wife William Vandobeler a Dutch Painter, Greenwich All those persons above mentioned have taken the oath of allegiance and supremacy the 16 day of April 1680.

Archives Holding Poor Law Records in the UK and Ireland

The corporation established a which combined housing and care of the poor with a house of correction for petty offenders.

England Nonconformist Church Records • FamilySearch

We ask for your patience as this may take a day or so to process. Last year the number was 296. Much material has been microfilmed, for example at the country level on the FamilySearch Catalog a search for ENGLAND + HUGUENOT produces over 200 items, and there are many more at the county and town levels.

The Workhouse in Westminster Union, London: Middlesex

Tem Jaque Hocepie, fils de Jaque; Jaque du Hamel, fils de Jean; Ester de Lespau, fille de Jean; Susanne Hocepie, nieche de Jaque. Some bishops have designated the County Archives as their Diocesan Record Office in a similar manner to Anglican churches, and the FHL is microfilming as time and resources permit. In particular, for those who had arrived from , such detailed information can provide a county or parish of origin, where a record may simply have stated that the applicant had been born in Ireland — something any researcher will welcome.

Poor Relief Records

The Catholic Directory is a good place to start, and then contact the appropriate diocesan archives which probably has a biography and perhaps a lot more. Barnardo later opened the Girls' Village Home in Barkingside, a collection of cottages around a green, which housed 1,500 girls. Dates vary for each parish depending on what records if any have survived.
