It publishes articles of almost all disciplines connected with the Greek and Roman World, from literature, history, philosophy, culture, mainly, but not exclusively based on inscriptions and papyri, but also on coins and archaeological material. The journal is able to publish new and important documents in a very short time and gives scholars the opportunity to react quickly to new finds. The publishing house is specialised on mainly academic publications treating with archaeology, prehistory, ancient history and related themes.

Une longue introduction précise la tâche et ses difficultés : étude et morphologique des noms, datation et localisation des contribution de l'onomastique à l'histoire économique et surtout sociale, dont elle est une des sources les moins utilisées jusqu'ici : les. Heikki Solin, Beiträge zur Kenntnis der griechischen Personennamen in Rom. The group of editors from different disciplines evaluate the incoming manuscripts including also referees from other countries.
