Americans' Views on Religion in Society, Politics

Other people say no, that's not enough, there have to be basic liberal rights: free speech, free press, equality of citizens.

Religion and the Case Against Ancient Liberty: Benjamin Constant's Other Lectures on JSTOR

White Democrats are substantially less inclined than black Democrats to hold these views. They're ideas about which people disagree in the deepest possible sense.

That may be a good thing, in light of some of the criticisms we've heard today — for example, in the regulatory context — of what democracy produces. When it comes to support for abortion rights, just 35% of immigrant Hispanics say abortion should mainly be legal, while 56% of second-generation and 54% of third-generation Hispanics say abortion should mainly be legal.

Mark Twain's Religion and Political Views

Religion, religious language, justification, affiliation, not only serves as an effective boundary between us and the other, but it also promises a clarity and a foundation to restore, return, rebuild on.

Mark Twain's Religion and Political Views

You face the circumstances you have in front of you and you go forward.
