Laws of rugby league

What do they all mean and which are most important? The evidence for this story — that a schoolboy invented rugby by picking up and running with the ball during a football match — is sketchy to say the least. A player may not in any case run with the ball in or through touch.

Explanatory notes on the laws of the game of Rugby League football / compiled by T.J. Bellew

Rule 9: Ball in or out of play The ball is in play when it is inside the field of play and the referee has not stopped play. If an attacking player in possession is brought down near the goal line and the ball is not grounded it is permissible to place the ball over the line for a try.

Laws of rugby league

A player having touched the ball straight for a tree, and touched the tree with it, may drop from either side if he can, but the opposite side may oblige him to go to his own side of the tree.

Football rules

Exceptions to the above include New Zealand although rugby league is still considered to be a lower class game by many or a game for 'westies' referring to lower class western suburbs of Auckland and more recently, southern Auckland where the game is also popular , Wales, France except Paris , Cornwall, Gloucestershire, Somerset, Scottish Borders, County Limerick see and the Pacific Islands, where rugby union is popular in working class communities.
