Funeral Poems

I will love, cherish and honor her as long as we both shall live I pledge my undying love to her. Lord Alfred Tennyson from Little Gidding, Four Quartets We shall not cease from exploration And the end of all our exploring Will be to arrive where we started And know the place for the first time.

Poems For Bereavement That Speak to Your Soul

The two of them are still the same to one another as they were before. Would but the Desert of the Fountain yield One glimpse - If dimly, yet indeed, reveal'd To which the fainting Traveller might spring, As springs the trampled herbage of the field! Perhaps a symbolic and romantic portrayal of the lover in search of his missing Beloved. The pattern of a stanza is determined by the number of feet in each line, and by its metrical or rhyming scheme.

Mushrooms by Sylvia Plath

It is terrible to survive as consciousness buried in the dark earth. The Cloud I bring fresh showers for the thirsting flowers, From the seas and the streams; I bear light shade for the leaves when laid In their noonday dreams. And yet we cannot remain content with knowledge borrowed from others.

Poems by Rumi · Rumi

When Love hath no care for him, he is left as a bird without wings.
